President Hoover Has Invitation to Visit Vancouver

VANCOUVER, June 5.—An invitation has been extended to President Herbert Hoover of the United States of America to visit Vancouver during his forthcoming tour of the Northwestern States.

Mayor W. H. Malkin telegraphed Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King at Ottawa, asking him to instruct the Under Secretary of State for the Dominion to extend the official invitation to the city of Vancouver to the President.

The Prime Minister telegraphed the Mayor saying that the invitation has been conveyed to the President of the United States by the Under Secretary of State.

PILGRIMS PAY HIGH TRIBUTE TO MR. MASSEY

American Body Tender's Farewell Dinner to Minister as He Leaves Post in U.S.

GROWTH OF CONTACT REVIEWED IN TALKS

(Canadian Press)

NEW YORK, June 5.—The United States has not been a good neighbor to Canada in the past, its people having been too absorbed in their own occupations, Hon. William Phillips, former United States minister to Canada, told the Pilgrims of the United States last night. Mr. Phillips was speaking at a farewell dinner tendered Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian minister to the United States, by the Pilgrims of the United States.

Mr. Phillips, who but recently relinquished his post at Ottawa, indulged in some plain speaking.

"Vincent Massey has preached to us the gospel of a better understanding between Americans and Canadians," he said, "and he is right in so doing for Americans have been too intent upon their immediate surroundings to take the time to extend the right hand of fellowship to their best customer, to whom they owe much of their own prosperity and happiness."

"But, thanks to Massey, more than anyone else, a great many of us are awake at last to the realization that Canada and the United States are partners in the vast enterprise of developing the North American continent for the benefit of Americans and Canadians alike, and that we owe our friends and partner wholehearted respect, consideration and gratitude."

"A SAD OCCASION"

"The leave-taking of Hon. Vincent Massey as Canadian minister to the United States is a very sad occasion in which our whole country is concerned," Mr. Phillips said.

Mr. Phillips was not alone in his expressions of regret at the impending departure of Mr. Massey. Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the Pilgrims and Hon. James W. Gerard, former United States ambassador to Germany, joined with him in declaring the transfer of Mr. Massey a regrettable incident for both countries. At the same time, they wished him well in his new office.

From across the sea, from the Pilgrims of Great Britain, came a cable message signed by the Earl of Derby, chairman of the executive committee, expressing the pleasure and interest felt by members of that body on hearing that Mr. Massey will soon take office in London.

THE MESSAGE

The message, dated from London and addressed to the Pilgrims of the United States, follows:

"The Pilgrims of Great Britain have learned with great interest and pleasure of the appointment of Mr. Vincent Massey to the important post of High Commissioner for the Dominion of Canada. Mr. Massey's close association with the United States and the good-will he has shown towards the Pilgrims, render his co-operation of particular value in this country, where he has so many friends, and where his high personal qualities are equally admired and appreciated. Therefore, let your farewell to Mr. Massey be associated with a message of most cordial welcome from your British brethren."

(Signed) "DERBY, Chairman."

And Mr. Massey, making his farewell speech here as Canadian minister, dwelt on the growth of contact and understanding with the people of the two neighboring countries.

PERSONAL CONTACT

"The people of Canada and the United States have made personal contact a principle of international relations," he said, discussing the traditional peace between the two countries. The minister declared it had "not only been won, but consolidated."

"We have learned to know and understand each other," he continued. "We can appreciate each other's points and the reasons which lie behind it—we are even capable of understanding each other's jokes, and that, as some one has wisely said, is the ultimate test of mutual understanding."

The nations of North America had certain advantages over those of Europe in maintenance of peace, Mr. Massey said.

Ottawa Report Says Dr. King Definitely Slated for Senate

OTTAWA, June 5.—Appointment of Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Pensions and National Health, to the Senate, is expected to be made at the meeting of the Cabinet next Saturday, according to those in close touch with the situation. Dr. King will remain in charge of the department for some time, it is expected, possibly until after the election, dependent on developments in British Columbia. There is one vacancy in the Senate for that province, present due to the death of Senator Hewitt Bostock.

Quick Pile Relief

No Salves or Cutting

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, succeeds, because it removes this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts.

HEM-ROID tablets as sold by druggists everywhere, have such a wonderful record for quick and lasting relief, that MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores always sell them with guarantee of money back if they do not end all pile suffering.

Duke of Connaught Sends Best Wishes To Masons of U.S.

LONDON, June 5.—The Duke of Connaught, grand master of English Freemasons, yesterday cabled his congratulations to Masons of the United States.

"On the eve of the two hundredth anniversary of the first grand lodge recognition of American Freemasonry, by constituting a provincial grand lodge for New England," he said, "I wish to congratulate all our brethren in the United States on the great Masonic progress they have made."

"I reiterate my fraternal good wishes and sincere desire for their continued happiness and prosperity. It remains my earnest hope that the tenets of our order may assist still further to strengthen the bond of friendship and good will which so happily exists between our nations. I shall continue to watch with sympathy every endeavor on both sides of the Atlantic to promote those feelings by the development of Freemasonry in its purest, highest forms."

LARGE ACREAGE SOLD AT SUMAS

Block Disposed of for Sheep Farming Containing Heavy Proportion of Sandy Soil

The Government of the province has disposed of a 1,500-acre tract in the reclaimed lands of Sumas in one transaction. This area is for the most part regarded as unproductive. There are 1,150 acres therein which are composed of sand exclusively, which has been giving a very considerable amount of trouble to those who have the responsibility of selling the land.

The sand area alluded to, while being shunned by prospective buyers, forms a menace to full settlement in view of the fact that it is rapidly growing up to willow and other objectionable growths, which makes it difficult to bring under the plough, and in the fact that it is nonproductive in the line of profitable crops, there is little inducement for going to this expense.

A syndicate has accepted a classification placed upon this, and upon some 335 acres additional, which is fairly good land. This was classified as worth $90 an acre. This left a valuation of $22,250 for the remaining part of the 1,500 acres taken, or a total of $53,500 for the whole extent.

The idea of the buyers is to go into the raising of sheep upon this land. The sheep will be useful in the clearing proposition of the sandy areas, and it is expected that perhaps some day may be made of this in the matter of raising coarse fodder for sheep.

Court of Appeal

Victoria Sitings

Rex (A) vs. Wong Cheun Ben (R)

Respondent had been convicted of selling opium. Upon application for habeas corpus it had been found that the conviction having been made without jurisdiction could not be made the basis of an order of deportation. The Crown appealed from the decision.

The Court of Appeal reserved judgment.

Mr. H. S. Wood, K.C., for the Crown. Respondent was not represented.

Re Taxation Act—An appeal by Hastings Street Properties, Ltd.—Appellant, a limited company, had in 1926 purchased a piece of property on Hastings Street in the city of Vancouver. In 1928 it sold the property at a profit of approximately $30,000. The paid-up capital of the appellant company was $5. In order to purchase the property appellant obtained advances from its five shareholders. In consideration of the advances the shareholders were to have all the profits upon the transaction, and were to advance further moneys required for the purpose. The judge of the Court of Revision held that the moneys received by appellant upon the sale of the property constituted income, but allowed as deductions from that gross income the amounts owing and paid to the five shareholders under the agreements. The Minister of Finance appealed from the finding of the judge of the Court of Revision.

The Court of Appeal reserved judgment.

Mr. A. M. Harper for the Crown; Mr. S. J. Remnant for appellant.

W. Thompson & Co. (A) vs. British America Assurance Co. (R)—Respondent had obtained an order in chambers directing appellant to give notice of trial for a date not later than June 24, 1930, otherwise the action would be dismissed for want of prosecution. Appellant, upon receipt of the summons for the hearing of the application, undertook to enter the action for trial as soon as the record could be prepared. Respondent, however, objected to the notice of trial, and proceeded with the application. Appellant argued that, as notice of trial had been given, there was no jurisdiction for the order to be made, and further that the order was unjustified.

The Court of Appeal (McPhillips, J.A., dissenting), declined to interfere with the discretion of the judge and dismissed the appeal.

Mr. A. Bull for appellant; Mr. A. H. MacNeill, K.C., for respondent.

OPERATING AGAINST CANADA

The object of most of the recent tariff increases in the United States has been to cut down imports of products competing too strenuously on the home market. They have been most successful in this sense so far as Canada is concerned. The increased tariffs, shortly to be imposed under the Hawley-Smoot legislation, will prove another implement for the reduction of Canada's export trade. The tariff barriers which have hurt Canada commenced to be reared up on a progressive scale almost coincident with the advent of Mr. Mackenzie King to office. Many products which, previous to the present regime in Ottawa, were admitted into the United States duty free are now taxed and taxed heavily.

The products in which Canada's trade suffered because of new American tariffs include the following which, prior to 1921, were admitted to the United States duty free: Cattle, 30 per cent; sheep, 1 and 2 per cent; wheat, 35 per cent; wheat flour, 20 per cent; bacon, 25 per cent; fresh beef, 2 cents per pound; salt pork, 25 cents per bushel. At the same time, in 1921, increases in certain tariffs were also effected. Among these green apples increased from 10 cents to 30 cents a bushel; butter, 25 cents per pound to 6 cents per pound; cheese, 20 per cent to 25 per cent; flaxseed, 20 cents a bushel to 30 cents a bushel. The following year other tariff increases became effective. The tariff on barley was raised from 15 cents to 20 cents a bushel; oats from 6 cents to 15 cents a bushel; wheat from 35 cents to 42 cents a bushel; wheat flour from 20 per cent to $1.04 per 100 pounds; poultry from 2 cents to 6 cents a pound; butter 6 cents to 12 cents per pound; cream from 5 cents to 30 cents per gallon; potatoes from 25 cents to 50 cents per bushel.

The effect of these tariff increases has been felt in an emphatic way on the trade of this country. In a seven-month period the exports of some forty products from Canada affected by American tariff increases dropped from a value of $138,845,815 in 1921 to $32,107,897 in 1922, and the value of these exports for the same period in 1930 has fallen still further to $26,325,460. Now there are new tariff increases at Washington which have been chopped and changed by the Senate but which as definite increases are about to go into effect. They cover industrial and agricultural articles and have been designed purposely to reduce Canada's volume of export trade to the United States.

The Budget of the Dominion, which will be an issue in the Federal election of July 28, is not a reply to the tariff increases of the United States. It leaves this country in a position where it will continue to lose in its export markets. In other words, the United States in legislating for the advantage of her own producers and manufacturers is fostering an adverse trade balance for this country. That adverse balance should be abolished and a favorable balance built up through the medium of tariff changes provided by Ottawa. Mr. Dunning's Budget does not aim at reaching this goal. The chances are that its general effect will be to enhance the present adverse trade balance from which the Dominion suffers.

A MARITIME MODERATOR

The nation-wide character of the Presbyterian Church in Canada has been illustrated in the election at Hamilton of Dr. Frank Baird to be Moderator of the General Assembly now in session in that city. Dr. Baird is a minister in Pictou, N.S., and it was as a leading representative of the church in the Maritime Provinces that his candidature found favor with the commissioners. Of his five predecessors in office the first Moderator, Dr. D. G. McQueen, of Edmonton, belonged to the Prairie Provinces, Dr. A. J. McGillivray and the late Dr. David Perrie were from Ontario, the late Dr. W. L. Clay was from British Columbia, while Dr. John Buchanan was representative of the foreign mission work of the church.

Presbyterianism has had great influence in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick and has made large contributions in religion, politics and literature to Canada's national life. There is a special fitness in the elevation of a leader from the Atlantic Coast to the moderatorial chair. Dr. Baird is well known throughout the Presbyterian community as a welcome contributor to the church papers.

WIRELESS WINS AND FAILS

Two significant facts which are both of great human interest are reported from the wireless world. British farmers, traditionally the most conservative class of the community, after denouncing and ridiculing bulletins broadcast for their benefit, have been converted to their use; while India has scornfully rejected wireless entirely. While the British farmers are finding the Ministry of Agriculture broadcasts indispensable to their prosperity the Indian Broadcasting Corporation has been wound up with a debt on its shoulders and sold to the Indian Government as a going concern for £22,500. The two facts will one day appear in history as one of the comedies of our time.

At first British farmers regarded wireless with open hostility. They held it responsible for any upset of the weather. Some declared that it ruined the fruit trees. Some even suggested that it was responsible for the spread of foot and mouth disease. In all India, with its scores of millions of people, who can neither read nor write, only an educational value; to the rest it seems useless or worse. Now that it has passed to the Government it will assuredly make its way.

All but the highly-educated native classes in India are the victims of superstitious terrors. Everything they cannot understand they attribute to Satan. Wireless must have been terrifying to minds of this kind. So is all the imaginary magic of the West to these fear-ridden people. Not long ago natives who had been treated successfully for cholera were found to be worshipping the evil spirit whom they regarded as causing it, worshipping in fear lest he should afflict them again. The bottles in which their medicines had been contained were exalted as the symbols of divinity. Yet we should not regard such terrors with scorn. Many of the people of India are, in their beliefs, where our ancestors stood hundreds of years ago. Better instructed men have been the victims of fears no less absurd. Progress does continue, little by little, like the waves of the sea. The conversion of the British farmers is noteworthy, indeed. They are no more stubborn and cautious than the agriculturists of other lands. They live close to Nature, move with the seasons, and do everything in settled order, and their minds become attuned to habit and occupation. Wireless with them had refractory soil to penetrate, but it has succeeded, and it will one day triumph in India.

SOMETHING TO LIVE BY

In a thoughtful book that surveys the trend of mankind, A. E. Wiggam makes this comment: "Never before in all history did men have so much to live for, never did they have so much to live in, never did they have so much to live with, and yet never did they seem to have so little to live by."

A time was when life was poorer in some things than now, when it was a practice with certain people to maintain a code of living. This code was based upon a sense of values and standards of conduct, from which a man might not deviate and retain his own respect and that of his kind. Its great worth was that it gave those who possessed it a yes and a no in the various circumstances of life. They had something to live by. The period in which this practice was most adhered to was marked by an unusual number of high-grade men. This is not a coincidence. It is a result.

Those who have within themselves an authority by which to determine what is preferable and what is not have an advantage in any age. It is by this means, as one writer has noted, "that great individuals and great families are made." Any one who desires something effective to live by can find the materials within reach if he wants to use them. They may be found in certain ideals which mankind, out of long experience, has learned to be productive of character. They are always available in the Bible, a book of unfailing standards. Whoever seeks them there will find, in Proverbs 11:3, the key to the whole matter: "The integrity of the upright shall guide them."

Mr. Mackenzie King's unfortunate remark that he would not give a five cent piece to a Tory Government in the provinces is substantiated by truth as well as by political animus. When the King Government took office Ottawa was contributing annually the following amounts to the provinces: For technical education, $1,000,000; for agriculture, $1,000,000, and for highways, $4,000,000. All these grants have now been discontinued. The annual subsidies to the provinces from the Federal Treasury are fixed by the British North America Act. They do not constitute an act of grace on the part of the present Federal administration.

THE ENGLISH SEA QUEEN

The street of this my city is the tide
Where the world's ships, that bring my glory, ride.
Far as the tide along my highway swings
The iron of my shipwrights' clanks and wrings.
Far inland as the gulls go are my stores
Where the world's wealth is locked with iron doors.
And these my merchants gather day by day
The wealth I bring, the wealth I send away.
—Maselield.

DAUBER

Cheerily they rang her in, those boating bells.
The new beauty stately from the sea.
Whitening the blue heave of the drowsy swell,
Treading the bubbles down, with three times three
They cheered her moving beauty in, and she Came to her berth, so noble, so superb,
Swayed like a queen, and answered to the curb.
—Maselield.

There is one's trade and one's family, and beyond it seems as if the great demon of worldly-mindedness would hardly allow one to bestow a thought or care—Matthew Arnold.

Men are so constituted that everybody undertakes to do a better job of it than his neighbor, whether he has the aptitude for it or not.—Gothie.

The true, strong, and sound mind is the mind that can embrace equally great things and small.—Dr. Samuel Johnson.

Note and Comment

By R. A. D.

Why should there be strife between us and them?

Just at a time when all the parts of the world of any particular importance were supposed to have been organized upon the principle of democracy, there would appear to be no place for dictators to successfully practice the principles of dictatorship. Yet there is a dictator in Italy, and the dictator is making the rulers of France wonder whether the new menace from the South is not more to be dreaded than the old enemy from the West. If the people of France and the people of Italy spoke with a common tongue and read a common language, like the people of the British Empire and the people of the American republic, they might understand one another better and there would be prospects of their coming to a better understanding of one another.

Neither the people of Great Britain nor the people of the United States would brook a dictatorship in the accepted sense of the term. That is why dictators are never likely to be popular in either country. But both countries have magistrates who control many influential newspapers and when the magistrates speak to the people in terms of reason and common sense, they are listened to with interest. If not gladly. The people of Great Britain were not inclined to listen to the voices of Beaverbrook and Rothermere when those two press magnates spoke as dictators, but they inclined their ears and listened with interest when the magistrates dropped from their high horses and suggested practical measures for the reorganization and unification of the British Empire.

The British press magnates acted like dictators when they declared that Mr. Baldwin should be deposed from the leadership of the Conservative party and succeeded by Beaverbrook, or by some statesman acceptable to both Beaverbrook and Rothermere. The Canadian Beaverbrook may be an astute man of business, but he is not regarded as a great statesman, and certainly he is not regarded as an Anglo-Saxon, or a Celtic-Saxon, Mussolini. In any case, the circumstances of Great Britain are not yet such as would justify the substitution of responsible government with a dictatorship.

There is also a great press magnate in the United States. The Hearst Press covers the country like a blanket, and the magnate at the head of that press, although he speaks with his millions of tongues like a dictator, is not vested with all the powers of a dictator, at least not in major political matters. With Mr. William Randolph Hearst has not been regarded as a very special friend of Great Britain. In fact, not to put too fine a point upon it, readers of the Hearst Press had ample reason for considering Mr. Hearst as a bitter enemy of Great Britain. But the writers for the Hearst newspapers either did not understand the sentiments of their chief, or the sentiments of that chief have undergone a radical change. Possibly the visit of Mr. Winston Churchill to the United States, during which visit the clever British statesman sojourned for about a week with Mr. Hearst as his guest in California, may have had something to do with the conversion of the American magnate to a more reasonable frame of mind.

At any rate, the instantaneous conversion of an apparently irreclaimable slinger of world-wide dispute at an emotional revival meeting could not have created a greater sensation and more comment than the announcement of Mr. Hearst that he is at heart a sincere friend of Great Britain and that an alliance—not a formal alliance set forth in documents and parchments, but a clear understanding without any attachments—between the United States and Great Britain would be the surest and safest guarantee of the peace of the world. And Mr. Hearst says that the most effective way of promoting such an alliance is for both Great Britain and the United States to attend strictly to their own business, and that the most important business Great Britain could attend to at the present time is the task of consolidating the affairs of the British Empire.

We are told that the news of the declaration of the American Press magnate has created a profound impression in Great Britain—that the press of that country is printing columns upon columns of news and comment upon it, none of the comment being sceptical, although some of it may be evidence of a state of bewilderment. The strange feature of the case is that Mr. Hearst is quite right in his diagnosis and his prescription. The naval disarmament agreement between Great Britain and the United States.

NEW BISHOP HAS BUSY DAY

RT. REV. GERALD MURRAY INTRODUCED AT ST. JOSEPH'S HOSPITAL AND ACADEMY

Following Interesting Morning Programme, His Lordship and Guests Tour Saniah

Continuing the exhaustive programme which has been arranged to introduce him to the people of his diocese and to the state authorities, and representative churchmen and laity of all denominations, Rt. Rev. Gerald Murray, the new Bishop of the Diocese of Victoria on Vancouver Island, yesterday spent another busy day, accompanied in most instances by the visiting bishops and clergy.

The first incident of the morning was the visit to St. Ann's Academy, where a reception was held by the Sisters of the Holy Family. This was followed by luncheon at St. Joseph's Hospital as the guests of the Sisters of St. Ann, sisters and nurses first welcoming His Lordship and the other visiting clergy, at the steps of the hospital; and later, in the hospital chapel, where they sang the "Ecce Sacerdos Magnus."

After luncheon the entire party went on a sightseeing tour through the Saniah peninsula in cars lent by the Beggs Motor Company. The route taken was by way of the Marine Drive, Deep Bay, Sidney, Fairview, and Butchart's Gardens. Mr. and Mrs. Butchart welcomed the visitors at "Benvenuto," where they were entertained at tea. On the way back to Victoria the cars ran up to the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory. The final episode in the day's programme was the banquet last night at the Rex Theatre, Equilmont, by invitation of Rev. A. B. Wood, rector of St. Joseph's.

A delightful little programme was given at St. Ann's Academy, where the guests were received by the Rev. Mother Provincial, the Sister Superior and staff. The papal colors dominated the scheme of decorations both in the corridors and in the hall, where a beautiful setting of "Te Deum" and "Gloria" was sung to Gounod's Marche Romane. During the signing of the register it was noted that the first visit of the new bishop fell exactly on the seventy-second anniversary of the arrival of the first Sisters of St. Ann, who reached Victoria on June 5, 1858. On their way to the Academy auditorium the bishop and visiting clergy visited the Novitiate. The scene in the auditorium was very pretty, the children wearing white dresses, and the whole front of the stage being solidly banked with flowers and greenery.

The programme opened with a chorus, "Vivat Pastor Bonus," which was followed by a piano quartette, "Tandem," played by four girls, Gladys Davis, Olive McQueen, George Sidney and Lucille Noble. Patricia McDonald read an address of welcome, and a big basket of roses was presented by little Mary Gavin. The former was, in part, as follows:

"You are our gift from St. Alphonsus Liguori, holy founder of the Redemptorist Order, of which you were so valuable a member. May the Holy Spirit, the one, and the surrender of the other, made in our behalf, be for the glory of both, the prosperity of our island church, and peace for you. My Lord Bishop, present and eternal happiness."

The Magnificat was sung in English, and five children, Edith Drake, Marie Trudel, Jean Gleria, Anita Byron and Betty Lindsay, recited the poem entitled "The Pledge of the Children's Love." His Lordship, introduced by Mr. Letorne, gave a delightful brief address to the children, congratulating them on the happy programme which they had given, and speaking of the delightful surroundings and atmosphere of their school. Bishop Murray also delivered messages of greeting from the children of the mother house of St. Ann at Lachine, Most Rev. William Duke, D.D., coadjutor Archbishop of Vancouver, also spoke briefly, expressing the pleasure which he and his colleagues felt in welcoming the new bishop. Luncheon, served in the nurses' dining-room in the new wing of St. Joseph's Hospital, was quite informal, without speech-making.

Arson Threats Made Against B.C. Mills

VANCOUVER, June 5.—Threats of a campaign of terror by arson through organized gangs against British Columbia lumber mills, as well as the one, and the surrender of the other, made in our behalf, be for the glory of both, the prosperity of our island church, and peace for you. My Lord Bishop, present and eternal happiness."

Police are now investigating the matter on instructions from Chief of Police W. C. Bingham, to whom the threats were given. They are working in close co-operation with Provincial Fire Marshal J. A. Thomas and his officers.

The fire officials found evidence of incendiary origin for two fires in large shingle mills on the banks of the Fraser River only a week ago.

Burly Beggar (dramatically): "Stay, lady, stay and hear a helpless orphan's tale."

"Heavy Load." "My dear sir, you look seventy, and how can you consider yourself an orphan? And you look strong and healthy. How can you be helpless?"

Burly Beggar: "Dear lady, if anyone's a liar, it's the poet, not me."

When money departs it seldom leaves an address.

Peshawar Watches Afridi Tribes Who Menace Borderland

In the distance, black mountains of Afghanistan and the towering snows of the Hindu Kush—the whole scene almost a memorial to British tenacity and skill. Two roads go up Khyber Pass, a top road for motor traffic, a lower one for camel caravans—a railway now winds its snake-like way to Landi Kana through the twisting red hills.

WATCH TOWERS
Little block houses from whose lofty rooftops and steel turrets appeared the colored turbans of Indian soldiers gazing down as we passed. On either side of the road—and yet in "No Man's Land"—we drove through clusters of mud-walled villages whose watch towers stood up like ancient lighthouses in the necks of the pass.

Black-robed Moslem women carrying in the last of the winnowed grain—baggy-trousered Pathans watching us with rifles slung over their backs. Old Buddhist walls and fluttering tins of the Moslem graveyards.

IN KHYBER PASS
Yesterday Khyber Pass was quiet. In some of those turreted little watch towers were men who, because of blood feuds, had been unable to walk outside the mud walls of their own village for years. At twelve noon today the British began a circling movement to round up the Afridis, who last night crossed the border line into Indian territory. The movement was based

DEAN RUTHERFORD IS LAID AT REST

Citizens of Saskatchewan and Other Provinces Honor Memory of Agricultural Authority

SASKATOON, Sask., June 5.—At the funeral this afternoon representatives of this and other provinces joined with the people of Saskatchewan to honor the memory of the late Dean W. J. Rutherford, of the College of Agriculture, University of Saskatchewan, and pay fitting tribute to his work as a public servant, a foremost agricultural authority, a sportsman, a man, who, in his daily life, followed closely his deep religious convictions and devoted much of his thoughts to the welfare of others.

Dean Rutherford's long service to Saskatchewan and the Dominion shortened possibly by his strenuous efforts as a member of the Royal Grain Commission six months ago, came to a close Sunday evening at his home on the university grounds.

Inhalator Crew Saves Life of Mrs. W. F. Hayden

VANCOUVER, June 5.—The inhalator crew from No. 1 fire hall saved the life of Mrs. W. F. Hayden, Main Street, who was found by her husband in an unconscious condition in a gas-filled room shortly after 4 o'clock this morning. Police said that a tube connecting a three-plate gas burner had been broken and was not noticed by the family.

DRIVES MOTOR TO LEECHTOWN

Mr. John Dentith First to Make the Trip Over Old Trail by Automobile

BLOCK AND TACKLE A HELP ON HILLS

Mr. John Dentith, 131 Regina Avenue, Parkdale, made a motor trip on Sunday last to Leechtown, famous in the early days for its gold claims. What makes this trip remarkable is the fact that, according to Mr. John Cragg, the only original settler now living there, Mr. Dentith is the first one in seven years to arrive in the gold town over the original trail in a motor car.

The difficulties in the way would have daunted most men, but Mr. Dentith was determined to get there, so he provided himself with axe, saw, planks and other tools to cleave his way through.

Leaving Victoria at 7:30 Sunday morning he soon covered the eleven miles over the old Goldstream Road to Sooke Lake, where he crossed the city waterworks pipeline on planks. Then his troubles began over the three miles of trail to Leechtown. Although there are still some parts of the original road in fairly good condition, the remainder of it was almost entirely overgrown with trees and brush, to say nothing of mudswamps and gully crossings. However, a strong arm wielding a stout axe and saw, made short work in sawing and removing trees which had fallen across the path. Then cutting his way through swamps of alders.

On coming to a hill where it was impossible to steer the car on account of slippiness, caused by moss on the rocks, by driving a crowbar two-thirds of its length into the roadbed, Mr. Dentith succeeded in hauling his car up by block and tackle, although he had to repeat the performance several times. However, he finally reached his destination to the great surprise of Mr. John Cragg, who has lived there for the past forty or fifty years in his comfortable cabin called "Goldpan."

Not much of the original Leechtown remains, as a fire which swept the district some years ago, practically burned everything up, although the remains of old sluice boxes and windlasses are still to be seen.

MRS. CLAYARDS IS LAID TO LAST REST

The remains of Mrs. Jane Martha Louisa Clayards were laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery yesterday morning, the funeral taking place from Haywards B.C. Funeral Chapel at 10:15, proceeding to Christ Church Cathedral, where service was conducted by Rev. Canon Nunn at 10:30. The hymns sung were "Peace, Perfect Peace" and "Abide With Me."

A very large number of sympathizing friends were present, including Police Commissioner W. E. Staniland. A delegation from the Eastern Star Lodge, Daughters of England Primrose Lodge, and the members of Court Maple Leaf, A.O.F., attended in a body; their service at the grave was conducted by Sister S. Jackson, C.R., and after the service the funeral ode was sung.

Mrs. Clayards was the widow of the late Sergeant William Henry Clayards, a member of the city police force for many years. Mrs. Clayards was the first police woman in Victoria and served the city for sixteen years. Numerous beautiful floral offerings were received and placed on the casket and hearse. The pallbearers were Chief John Syme and Constable F. Suckling, representing the Oak Bay police; Inspector John T. Boulton, Constable John Ireland and Sergeant Thomas Heatley, representing the city police; and Mr. T. A. Headlin, representing the fire department. There was also an escort of city police in charge of Sergeant Florence.

FINANCIER VISITS CITY

MR. F. H. ECKER, PRESIDENT OF METROPOLITAN LIFE, IS ON TOUR

Travels With Party of Officials — To Hold Staff Conference in Vancouver

Mr. Frederick H. Ecker, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, New York, was in the city for a short time yesterday between steamers, arriving from Seattle and proceeding to Vancouver for a conference of company's representatives today, which will be attended by the Victoria officials of the company.

He was accompanied by Mr. Francis O. Ayres, first vice-president; Mr. A. F. C. Fluke, second vice-president, and Mr. Henry E. North, of Ottawa, third vice-president and manager for Canada.

This corporation is one of the largest on the continent, and Mr. Ecker supervises the investment of a daily average of $2,000,000 of company funds, and is the directing head of a force of 44,000 workers. He is the Metropolitan's fifth president, and for forty-seven of the sixty-two years of the company's history he has been connected with it. At the age of twenty-six he was the company's controller, and steadily advanced until, when Mr. Haley Fluke died last year, he was unanimously named head of the Metropolitan. For nearly a quarter of a century Mr. Ecker has passed on all the company's manifold investments in the securities of governments, states, municipalities, railways and public utilities, and on all realty loans.

Most of the splinters in the banister of life are unnoticed until we begin to slip down.

OFFICIALS OF C.N.R. WEST ON BUSINESS

NOTES OPTIMISM THROUGHOUT WEST

VANCOUVER, June 5.—Mr. A. E. Warren, vice-president of the Canadian National Railways, with headquarters at Winnipeg, arrived in Vancouver this morning on the Continental. Mr. Warren is in the West on one of his periodical business visits, and will be here for several days. He has a busy programme laid out for today, and on Saturday will accompany Mayor Malkin in welcoming the party of Winnipeg businessmen, who are visiting the Coast to officially welcome to Canadian waters the new French Line S.S. Winnipeg, which will arrive in Victoria early on Sunday morning. The Winnipeg party arrives at the Canadian National depot at 7:25 o'clock Saturday.

Mr. Warren is of the opinion that the crop conditions in Western Canada are a little above the average. "There has been considerable rainfall lately, which will have a very beneficial effect all round," stated Mr. Warren. "It is, however, much too early to prophesy as to the eventual 1930 crop. It is really impossible to get a fair idea of crop conditions until around July 1."

"The early stages of a crop are subject to many things that might change conditions. There does seem to be a better spirit of optimism, however, generally throughout Western Canada, which, in itself, will have a very beneficial effect."

"While I am here this trip, I will make a careful inspection of the Lulu Island development in the Canadian National Railways has in hand. The progress has been quite satisfactory to date, and I am sure, when our work is completed, it will mean a tremendous step forward in the development of industrial life in this territory," stated Mr. Warren. Mr. Warren was met at Jasper, and accompanied over the territory, by Mr. B. T. Chappell, general superintendent for British Columbia.

GARDEN PARTY IS HELD AT SIDNEY

Fete at Home of Mr. and Mrs. Simister, Aids School Pledge Fund

The lovely garden of Mr. and Mrs. Simister was the scene of a large and well-attended garden party in aid of the Sidney School annual picnic fund on Tuesday afternoon. The Sidney School choir, under the direction of Miss Peck, sang the two numbers for which they won the silver cup at the recent Victoria Musical Festival. Miss Owen Cox, of Victoria, delighted the audience with recitations and very graceful dancing. Master Tom Anstey, also of Victoria, sang two much-appreciated solos, and the pupils of Mrs. Agnew gave piano solos which were well received. A pleasing little ceremony took place when Miss Georgette Lenart, of the school choir, presented Mrs. Agnew, their accompanist, with a gift in appreciation of her work. Mrs. Simister, Miss Cox and Miss Peck received lovely shower bouquets. Mrs. T. M. Hughes was chairman. Mrs. J. Ramsay, principal of the school, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Simister for the use of their grounds. Tea and ice cream were served on the lawn by Miss Heap and Miss Vye, assisted by Misses Gladys Roberts, Georgette Lenart, Mary McIntosh, Belle Craig and Emily Thornley. The candy stall was in charge of Misses Ivy Hill, Owen Hollands and Elsie Carmichael. Raymond Conway sold soft drinks, and Mrs. J. Ramsay sold tags.

PICTURES PRESENTED

The Robert Burns McKicking Chapter, I.O.D.E., presented the Kingston Street School with pictures of their Majesties the King and Queen. Mrs. H. G. Bolt, regent of the chapter, and Mrs. McKicking, and two other members were present at the ceremony, and were presented by the children with beautiful bouquets of roses from the school garden. The principal expressed the thanks of the school for the gift. Three cheers were given for the chapter and a "tiger" for Mrs. McKicking.

More than 500 marriages were solemnized in London civil offices alone at Easter time this year.

"Well, my little man," said the affable chemist, leaning over his counter to look at a small boy clutching a shilling, "what can I do for you?" "Please, sir," said the boy, "I want some powder for my sister." "Ah!" said the chemist, "and what kind did she say she wanted? That which goes off with a bang?" "No," said the boy, "My sister wants the kind that goes on with a puff."

Afternoon Fashions More Formal

THE time has come when one does not turn up at a late afternoon event in the costume one started the day with. For there is definitely a formal afternoon mode—the first in the decade since the war. Yet, paradoxically, one may appear in a suit—a very different suit, to be sure. On the right, the Vogue sketch above illustrates the type of suit. It is of crepe de Chine, the top part of the blouse of white crepe de Chine, with a cowl neckline in front, and the cuffs and lower part of black, according to sharp contrast. The jacket has a deep circular collar, which serves as short sleeves and reveals the sleeves of the blouse beneath. On the left is a smart light tweed travel coat for the June bride. It is a novel light-weight tweed in tan, green and brown tones. Sketch is by Vogue.

Dress at the Academy

Prominent People Seen in This Year's Exhibition—Popularity of Cloaks and Wraps Is Noticeable

Many of the well-known portrait painters at the Academy have been caught napping by the new fashions, and there are few examples of the present long dresses and normal waists, says an article in The Times. It is largely an exhibition of cloaks and wraps, as if painters and sitters were doubtful of the permanence of fashion, while the portraits were done.

The handsome wrap on the walls is the Queen's in Mr. Jagger's great portrait. It is rich, but not too dark, blue is more a painter's color than a dressmaker's. The dark sables trimming it add to its values and make a regal garment lightened by the pale silver dress. Her Majesty wears a rope of pearls and earrings; their lustre suits the velvet and fur. Painters appear to be especially happy with the texture of velvet and to prefer paints to diamonds, but at least in one portrait the modern broad diamond flexible bracelet displays its brilliance, though it seems to take their light from the lights about them are difficult to paint.

WELL KNOWN FIGURES

Princess Mary looks very neat in her black habit, white stock, and tall hat, as she is on her light grey horse in Mr. Munnings' painting of the Bramham Moor. Two of the most modern-looking dresses are to be found in Mr. Oswald Birley's portrait of Lady Elizabeth, and in Mr. James Gunn's portrait of his wife. In the former is the filmy marquisette or tulle of the day, with the belted waistline. A faint pink and suggestion of long draperies if the sister stood up complete the representation of a modern dress. Mrs. Gunn in her full-length portrait wears a dress of oyster-white satin beaute and chiffon arranged in volants alternately; the skirt is long and the bodice is moulded to the figure; and the turquoise satin shoes give a curious color note. Mr. Ranken's portrait of Lady Mary Lygon shows a dress of tulle over silver lame; the shoulder scarf is flecked with gold. Of an unusually vivid saxe blue is the georgette dress worn by Mrs. Leslie Hamilton in Mr. Gerald Kelly's painting; here the jewels are carved emeralds.

Miss Zinkelsen paints a handsome black wrap trimmed with white fox and worn over a silver dress by Mrs. Irwin Buxton; and Mr. Gerald Kelly in his diplomat work shows Jane XXX with a blue velvet and ermine wrap slipping off a shoulder which shows a white noire strap; a pretty touch in the little blue velvet bow, which finishes Jane's necktie. Mr. Augustus John emphasizes the value of the negligee for meditation, and Miss Bankhead wears a transparent pink lace bodice garment made with a short pink satin slip; its color makes her look like a primitive, and contrasts with another pink-clad lady in another of her own paintings. The painter has treated in the same fondant tone. Both complexions are refreshing in these days. Miss Grey, has an ivory satin vest and big gauntlet cuffs.

Hairdressing is in a state of transition. There is an Eton crop, there are many soft shingles, and there are a few heads where the hair is being let grow. The bright red fingernail will date several portraits.

England has had more marriages so far this year than in any similar period in several years.

BELMONT CHURCH IS SCENE OF WEDDING

Miss Edna Graham and Mr. William Jackson Married at Evening Service—To Make Home Here

The marriage took place on Wednesday evening at the Belmont United Church, of Edna, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. B. Graham, Kingston Street, to Mr. William Jackson, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Jackson, Vining Street. Rev. James Hood officiated. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a gown of powder blue georgette, the sleeves of which being trimmed with beige lace and a cape of georgette. She wore a poke bonnet of silk mohair and carried bridal roses and carnations. Miss Hilda Graham, sister of the bride, attended her, wearing a frock of mauve and peach taffeta, made in bouffant style, and a white mohair hat. Pink pyrethrum and blue iris composed her bouquet. Two little flower girls, Joan Graham and Evelyn Day, wore frilly frocks of white, and carried baskets of mauve and pink sweet peas. Mr. Harold Jackson was best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Ronald Hurst and Charles McGregor.

Miss Mae Hicks presided at the organ and played the bridal music. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where Mrs. Graham, in brown and white flat shoes, and Mrs. Jackson, in brown flat shoes, were waiting with touches of silver, assisted in receiving. The bride and groom left for Vancouver and the Sound cities, and will make their home on Vining Street. Among the many presents were a china dinner service and set of carvers from the employees of the warehouse of Turner, Beeton & Co., where the groom has been employed for twelve years, and a lamp from the bride's associates at the Turner, Beeton factory.

Divorced women in Budapest have formed a club, although one might think that women without husbands wouldn't need a club.

TO DESCRIBE PENTECOST SPIRIT

Lecture Will Be Given This Evening on Significance of Great Festival

A public lecture on "The Significance of the 1900th Anniversary of Pentecost" will be delivered by the Very Rev. C. S. Quinlan in Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall at 8 o'clock this evening. Widespread interest throughout the Christian world is shown this year in preparations for the annual festival at Whitsuntide.

The Rev. proposes to describe the development of the doctrine of the Holy Spirit in such a way that "the plain man" will be able to follow it. The importance of the subject is heightened by a growing recognition today that the most pressing problems in life are fundamentally spiritual problems.

Plans for a special observance of the 1900th anniversary of Pentecost have been made simultaneously in many countries, at a time when Christian people are looking for a larger unity in Christendom and are hoping for a revival of the Christian faith and life.

Fashion Fancies
By Marie Belmont

Countess Maude Baranowska is spending a week at "Ragley," as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Emily Walker, before leaving for England.

Shorts are expected to play a long game in the tournament of tennis costumes this Summer. They challenged all comers at the fashionable resorts this Winter and established a new record on the courts. Striped and plain; shirtings are at present among the favorite fabric winners. Often the shorts are pleated to give the effect of a brief, full skirt, as is shown in the sketch above. Green and white striped broadcloth develops this model.

The trick of slipping a wrap-around skirt over the shorts is one that many are fast learning. This sartorial gesture gives the costume the dignity of a smart sleeveless Summer dress for other events.

CUBS CHALK UP EIGHTH STRAIGHT VICTORY

Schmeling Smiles At Talk of Being Overconditioned

German Contender for Heavyweight Championship Says He Is Conserving His Strength for Fight—Gob Gets Down to 198 Pounds

ENDICOTT, N.Y., June 5.—Max Schmeling took his ease today getting into trouble on the golf links instead of in the ring with sparring partners, while a small army of war correspondents speculated on the physical condition of the careerist young German.

The boys are worried over the fact that Max has decided to rest for two days at the most critical point in his training for the fifteen-round heavyweight championship duel with Jack Sharkey in Yankee Stadium next Thursday night, and they fear he has gone stale from overwork. In his last workout Wednesday Max had trouble subduing his usually wobbling sparring partners. This talk over training seems only to excite Schmeling's sense of humor. It seems so ridiculous to him that discussing the matter failed to hamper Max's rugged though unavailing assaults on the par of the camp golf course, a layout that stresses stamina rather than skill.

BEST GOLF HERE

Attired in a strikingly hued costume, equipped with a costly set of war clubs that weighed almost as much as he does, Schmeling was on his way to a vigorous 102, the best score he has ever made for eighteen holes. He played with Dr. W. G. Fralick, New York surgeon who mended his injured left hand two years ago, in a foursome with Dr. L. J. Smith and a youngster introduced as Dr. Fralick's nephew.

"Vas ist dat about me over-trained?" demanded Max after he banged a hopping drive that would have been a tough ball for any good shortstop. "That is joke I guess, no."

"I rest because I am already now to fight Sharkey now, and I must box only enough to keep that condition. I box some more over the week-end and then I do not waste too much strength that I need in my fight, yes?"

When the match was over it was revealed that the young fellow in the foursome, Dr. Fralick's nephew, whom Max had promised to teach the rudiments of the game, had equaled the course record with a 72. He was then unmasked. Dr. Fralick, who likes his jokes, had brought out Walter Kovak, the Metropolitan professional champion, who won his title by whipping first Gene Sarazen and finally Joe Turnesa in the match play final.

GOB DOWN TO 198

ORANBURG, N.Y., June 5.—Jack Sharkey had his weight down to 198 pounds after five rounds of boxing in the outdoors today. Following this Sharkey worked out against three sparring partners, shortening his punches and perfecting a fast countering style. He rocked the boys frequently with hard straights and well-timed uppercuts. Sharkey will continue to box until Monday, then taper with light exercises Tuesday and conclude training for the fight at Yankee Stadium, June 12.

RANGERS' TEAM FOR VANCOUVER GAME RELEASED

Alan Morton to Play Outside Left When Scottish Eleven Meet St. Andrews Tomorrow

MAINLAND FIELDING POWERFUL SQUAD

VANCOUVER, June 5.—Alan Morton, elusive outside left, known in England as "the little fellow," will play with the Glasgow Rangers here on Saturday, when the famous Scottish eleven meets the local St. Andrews Club at Athletic Park. The Rangers will arrive here at 11 o'clock Saturday morning and will leave for Victoria on Sunday morning's boat to play in the provincial capital on Monday night. The line-up for Saturday's game follows:

Stock Is Up in Ring Game

NO SHARKEY ALIBI

ORANBURG, N.Y., June 5.—Jack Sharkey wishes the world at large to know that when he steps into the ring against Schmeling next Thursday night he will have no alibi of any sort to offer, whatever happens.

"This time," he said today, "I know I will be ready physically and mentally. I know I have made my share of mistakes in the past, but how many are perfect, or near perfect? I can promise the crowd that I will step into action bigger, faster and much better than I ever was in my life, and this time I haven't the slightest worry about any mental upset or flare-ups."

"I know I am boxing better and I know I am hitting surer, faster and harder. There isn't any conceit in this statement. It just happens to be a fact. I went into hard training for Loughlin late last Summer. I went back into training for Scott in January. Here I am back again. I have had just enough resting places between fights and training camps to get back all my reserve energy and not burn myself out."

"I expect to enter the ring around 196, possibly a pound or two more, for I am in shape now."

FASTEST BIG HEAVYWEIGHT
Sharkey is the fastest 200-pound heavyweight the ring has known for many decades. He is fast on his feet, fast moving with his body, fast with both hands. And he is fast enough to see an opening. He has shown in the past that he can take it, so it all sets down to the question of keeping his head if he is badly crowded.

It can be said now that Schmeling has never tried to crowd such a fast, hard-hitting fighter as Sharkey looks to be at this stage. Any one who takes this chance must also take his full share of punishment, for this is the type of attack Sharkey is expecting, the type he has planned to meet. He knows in advance he will have to worry if Schmeling elects to box him. He knows the German must waste in to take that right, and Sharkey intends to have both barrels loaded and ready when the assault takes place. He feels now that he can face and handle either style of warfare.

A CONFIDENT CAMP
The crowd gathered around Sharkey's camp is the most confident bunch I have seen at any training spot. Much of this is to be expected. They don't give Schmeling a chance. Many who believed the German visitor had at least an even shot a month ago have now changed their minds. They have seen a better looking Sharkey than they ever saw before, and they can't see how a fighter with Schmeling's limited experience can stand up before any such two-handed attack.

"Too big, too fast, too strong and too experienced is about the way most of the experienced observers who have seen both men sum up the outcome—in Sharkey's favor. The doubtful ones are those who remember his fights against Heeney and Risko and his final rounds a chance. Many who believed Sharkey's superior physical qualities, but they still want to see what he will do when Schmeling comes boring in chugging that right hand at a vulnerable spot."

No training workout ever gives a true line on what happens in the ring. Those judging Tunney by his showing at Stroudsburg couldn't give him a chance against Dempsey. Dempsey in training at that time looked bigger, faster and stronger—a much harder puncher.

But Schmeling isn't the boxer Tunney was, and Sharkey is not only younger than Dempsey was, but also in much better shape, through his training and fighting in the last year. He is right now close to his peak and prime, and it will take a lot of fighting to beat him.

Tomorrow we'll take a look at Herr Max and see what the German has to offer in the way of rebuttal.

HERMAN WIDENS BIG SIX LEAD

LOBINS' Slugger Raps Out Two Hits to Send Average to .426—Other Members Lose

Babe Herman made two hits in four trips to bat yesterday to furnish the only exception that light hitting continued today in the Big Six. The 500 average for the day lifted Herman's mark to .426, while the other players who played all lost ground. Al Simmons remained in the casualty list, while Babe Ruth encountered rain before the Yanks had finished a legal game. O'Doul suffered the worst loss, hitting once in five times up and dropping into fifth place. He also suffered from a semi-official revision of figure which gave him one more time at bat. Sam Rice and Paul Waner each hit once out of four, losing three and four points, respectively. The standing:

PORTER CHAPTER PLANS ROSE DAY

Repairs Have Been Carried Out at Local War Memorial—Results of Essay Tests

CHIEFMANUS, June 5.—The members of the Porter Chapter, I.O.E., held their monthly meeting in the parlor of the Calvary Baptist Church on Monday afternoon, with eleven members present; the second vice-regent, Mrs. F. Reed, in the chair.

Mrs. L. G. Hill reported upon the results of the essays on "Empire Day Shopping Week," to be written by the pupils of the Chemainus and Oyster Schools, for the best of which the Chapter was offering a prize. In grades four and five, Betty Allen was first. In grades six and seven, Tommy McLaughlin, and of grades eight, nine and ten, Tony Bailey, of Crofton. The Chapter decided that to each of these children a prize be given. In the Oyster School, Laura Nelson and Harry Porter came out first. Historical pictures have been ordered and will be donated by the Chapter to each of the schools. It was decided that Rose Day be on June 10, Mrs. L. G. Hill being convener, and already the following ladies have promised their help for that day: Mrs. Gregson, Mrs. Mather, Mrs. Porter, Miss E. White, Mrs. Knight. The Chapter decided that this year, if sufficient be collected, after all expenses are paid, a wheel chair will be bought, and presented to the Chemainus Hospital.

A message was read from Mr. A. E. P. Stubbs, regarding the War Memorial, stating that this had now been attended to, the work having been somewhat delayed on account of the bricklayers being unable to attend to the work immediately. The two corner posts east and west have been reset, the cement foundation extending further beyond them, affording greater protection. The members present were: Mrs. F. Reed, Mrs. Mather, Mrs. Goldsmith, Mrs. W. Southin, Mrs. Wyllie, Mrs. L. G. Hill, Miss E. White, Mrs. H. E. Knight, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Wynne, Mrs. Roy Gill. Tea hostesses for the afternoon were: Mrs. L. G. Hill, Mrs. Goldsmith, Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Wynne.

DECLINES GRANT TO CHAMBER

Appropriations Are Made for Various Organizations in District by North Cowichan Council

DUNCAN, June 5.—A meeting of the North Cowichan Council was held here today, when grants towards various organizations were made as follows: Cowichan Agricultural Society, $100; Cowichan Ambulance Society, $50; Chemainus Fire Brigade, $100; Salvation Army, $25; Naval Reception, $100. The grant to the Agricultural Society is $50 less than in 1929, and $100 less than in 1928. A grant to the Chamber of Commerce was refused. This organization received $75 last year, and $100 in the previous year. Councillor Paul put up a good fight for the chamber, but received no support. He also favored last year's grant being repeated to the Agricultural Society.

The council authorized the sale of twenty-nine acres of tax-reverted land on Stamp's Road to Mr. W. E. Christmas for the sum of $200.

An application from a Chemainus chairman for a contribution towards the cost of a sidewalk built without authorization from the council, was met to the extent of $114, being the amount of the lumber bill. Nothing was granted toward the labor account amounting to about $35. Mr. Walter Robinson was refused anything for work done on Sahlim Road without authorization. His claim was for $74.

Cowichan Riding Club Holds Meeting

COWICHAN BAY, June 5.—A committee of the Cowichan Riding Club was held at the inn on Monday evening. Those present included Mr. W. O. Annadale, president; Miss Dorothy Hogan, honorary secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Eric Springett, Miss Margery Norie, Miss Muriel Price, Dr. Osler, Mr. W. A. MacKintosh. The principal business on hand was the preparation of a programme to be submitted to the Cowichan Agricultural Society for a gymkhana and jumping events to be held at its Fall fair.

PLAN TO OBSERVE DOMINION DAY

Subject Is Discussed at Lady Smith With View to Co-operate With Neighboring Places

LADYSMITH, June 5.—Under the chairmanship of Mayor Reid, many of Lady Smith's prominent citizens met in the board room of the City Hall to discuss preliminary arrangements for the Dominion Day celebration here.

The personnel of several committees was selected from the meeting. Tentative numbers were arranged for the finance and collecting, the parade, the land and water sports committees. These have power to add to their numbers as circumstances require.

The grounds committee will have the fields prepared for the various sports, while the publicity men will see to it that the celebration is well advertised throughout the island. Lady Smith's economic life is dependent on industries removed from the city, and this condition makes an entirely independent celebration a matter of difficulty. It was unanimously decided to approach the officials of the Victoria Lumber and Manufacturing Co. plant at Chemainus with the suggestion of co-operation in the July first festival in Ladysmith. A year ago both towns had a sort of gala, but their proximity and identity of interests failed to make a proper day of it in either case, by splitting the holiday attractions.

Should Chemainus decide to participate in the activities at Ladysmith, equal representation will be offered to that place on the different committees. In the meantime, definite plans are left in abeyance, until May 30, when the Alderman King, the delegate to Chemainus, report on their interview to another meeting to be held next Monday.

Dominion Day, in any event, will be celebrated in Ladysmith, but the extent of the programme depends greatly on the co-operation of the other districts. Water sports may be curtailed, and team competition emphasized on the field. The children will probably be given major consideration in the event of a more limited programme, and already these are in active preparation for the day.

LAKE COWICHAN, June 5.—The junior pupils of the Cowichan Lake public school had a pleasant surprise when some of the pupils obtained recognition for their work during the month of May in a tangible form. Miss Lomas, the teacher, presented the small tokens in honor of concerted effort. Junene Fielding won honor for a concentrated month's work; Douglas Alexander for conscientious work, while Jimmy Hatter won recognition for his health poster; Jimmie Macdill gained an honor for his writing. Those obtaining 100 per cent in arithmetic were: Mary Pinson, Rosaline Boulet and Joyce Morley.

GARDEN FETE IS CARRIED OUT

Gyrettes Organize Gathering in Grounds of Mrs. Murray Plant's Residence

NANAIMO, June 5.—A most enjoyable and successful garden fete was held yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the Gyrettes, in the beautiful grounds of Mrs. Murray Plant's home on Newcastle Avenue. Decorations were carried out in colors of mauve and pink, with vases of roses centering the prettily appointed tables.

Contributors to the musical programme were Mrs. Harry Squires and Miss Hazel Martin, who rendered solos in a pleasing manner. Mrs. Newman as the accompanist. The Misses Audrey Dagg, Julie Hygh and Evelyn Guilford, pupils of Miss Dohson, delighted the guests with their artistic dancing. Miss Hazel Martin acting as accompanist.

Home cooking and ice cream were sold, and many a happy hour of amusement playing house-house. The results of the drawing were as follows: 1, lampshade, was won by Mrs. R. Kharston; 2, biscuit jar, Mr. Fred Fisher; 3, plant, Dr. Morrison; 4, tablecloth, Mr. J. Smith; 5, tray, Mr. C. Wardill; 6, crumb tray, Mrs. F. MacCarthy.

As a result of the afternoon's activities, the sum of $62 will be donated to the Gyro playground fund.

No Opposition To Mr. A. W. Neill At Nomination

COURTENAY, June 5.—At an enthusiastic meeting here Wednesday evening, Mr. A. W. Neill was unanimously nominated for the fourth time as Independent candidate for Comox-Alberni Riding. There were 150 present, representing the whole of the large district. As soon as Mayor Maxwell, of Cumberland, called for nominations, Mr. W. A. B. Paul, of Comox, put forward Mr. Neill's name, saying that so long as Mr. Neill worked so hard in the interests of the district, as he had for the past years, the people would be foolish not to return him.

Mr. Steed, of Port Alberni, seconded the nomination. No other names were forthcoming. In thanking the meeting for the nomination, Mr. Neill said that he had expected to be nominated, but had not expected such a large and enthusiastic gathering. Mr. John Sutherland and Mr. P. P. Harrison also spoke a few words.

Mr. Neill then extended a warm welcome to the delegates, whom he congratulated as intelligent people. "Everyone knows how I am politically," said the mayor, "but it will be hard to say what I shall do this time," he continued, remarking that Mr. Neill had been an indefatigable worker in the interests of the district, and that he was a hard man to find anything bad against. Representatives from Campbell River, both the Alberni, Bold Point, Cumberland and Parksville, and all intervening points, afterwards sat down to an excellent dinner served by Mr. Percy Sadder, of the Strand Cafe. Following the dinner, Mr. Neill spoke at some length to an interested audience.

First Choice of all the Children

How they love crisp Quaker Corn Flakes!

With the children, Quaker Corn Flakes always come first. They need no coaxing to take milk or cream when it is poured over these crisp, golden flakes.

Back again their little plates come for more. For they know that Quaker is the best tasting and crispest corn flake of all.

Serve Quaker Corn Flakes at breakfast or at any other time of day. It's fine for an afternoon snack when little appetites have been aroused by work or play.

Danny and Nanny Become Separated

—By THORNTON W. BURGESS—

Make plans with care, but don't forget. The best of plans may be upset. —Nanny Meadow Mouse.

Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse are old travelers. They have been around a good deal, living here and living there. Their last home was in the Long Lane. They had a very comfortable home in the bushes where they grew along the fence on one side of the Long Lane. But Kelly and Mrs. Kelly the Sparrow Hawk had become very near neighbors, so Danny and Nanny thought they must move. It wasn't safe to live there any longer. It was Nanny who led the way.

"Just where are you going?" squeaked Danny, who was right at her heels.

"Don't ask foolish questions," squeaked Nanny in return. "I don't know any more about it than you do. We'll know it when we get there. The chief thing is to get away from the hunting ground of those Sparrow Hawks."

"Right, my dear, quite right," replied Danny. "We must get away from those Sparrow Hawks. But I wish we knew where we were going. In getting away from the claws of Kelly the Sparrow Hawk we don't want to run into the paws of Reddy Fox."

"Of course we don't," replied Nanny, "and we're not going to. I'm not half as much afraid of Reddy Fox as I am of Kelly the Sparrow Hawk. Those keen eyes of Kelly's looking down from above can see every little thing, even in the grass and bushes. It is a wonder to me that we have escaped so long as we have. Yes, sir, it is far easier to keep out of the clutches of Reddy Fox."

Nanny suddenly squatted very close to the ground. Danny did the same thing. For three or four minutes neither of them moved. Then Nanny once more started ahead. "What was it?" squeaked Danny.

"I saw a shadow," squeaked Nanny. "I think it was Spooky the Screech Owl. He is as bad at night as Kelly is by day."

All that night, with frequent and rather long stops to rest and eat, Danny and Nanny traveled. When daylight came they had left the Long Lane and were well out on the Green Meadows. They had had no real adventures. Perhaps it was on this account that they had grown somewhat careless. At first they had kept very close together. Nanny had led the way and Danny had kept right at her heels. But now they were not so careful to keep together. They had separated because Danny had stopped for a lunch on some tender young grass. He knew that he could catch up with Nanny. His nose would tell him just where she had gone.

Now it happened that Flip the Terrier had gone down on the Green Meadows to look for excitement. He loved to hunt for Mead. Mice down there. It was very exciting to try to catch the scurrying little grey forms. It was just by chance that he surprised Nanny Meadow Mouse. Flip is very quick. It is a smart mouse that can escape him. He almost stepped on Nanny, and, of course, Nanny ran. Instantly Flip was after her. Nanny was desperately frightened. She was so frightened that for a moment or two she simply ran blindly, without knowing where she was going, or what she was doing. Flip was right after her, trying to pin her down with one of his paws. It was just good fortune that there happened to be an old can lying there—an old rusty can. Nanny dodged into it and Flip didn't see where she went. He hunted—and hunted, but he couldn't find her. Then he trotted back in the direction from which he had come.

Now, of course, Danny Meadow Mouse had heard the excitement and he in turn had been badly frightened. When he heard Flip coming his way Danny ran. He ran as fast as those short legs of his could take him. He ran off to one side and hid under a little tangle of old dead grass. So it was that Danny and Nanny became separated.

FIFTY YEARS OF CONSTANT ENTERPRISE

HE SERVES YOU ON THE SEA

If you asked this man to name his work, he would hardly know what to say. He is a sailor. But he is also an oil man. And he likes both jobs. He is one of the hard-muscled chaps who man Imperial Oil's ships. He spends his days at sea, but he is as much a part of Imperial Oil as the service station man who wipes your windshield.

Imperial Oil has a fleet of great ships, including the largest tank-ship in the world. It has them because, in South America it established dependable supplies of petroleum for Canadian use. Its ships bring this crude to Imperial refineries in Canada.

For the fifty years since it began, Imperial Oil has been meeting the changing needs of transportation and industry.

Because each new need has been met with new effort and perfection, Imperial has become a part of the country's progress—caches for Arctic airmen—supply depots for the mines—branches across the prairies—service stations in every city and town—nine thousand men in its refineries, on its ships, in its laboratories, at its wells.

Fifty years of constant enterprise are in the products Imperial Oil sells today.

Marvelube is Imperial's finest motor oil.

Imperial 3-Star and Imperial Ethyl are its best gasolines.

Which means that nothing finer can be put in your car.

ENUMERATORS MAKE PROGRESS

Many Names Have Been Received for Voters' List—To Be Used July 28

Mr. H. E. Courtney, the returning officer for the city of Victoria for the forthcoming election, says that the work of enumerating the voters in the riding is progressing with due diligence, and by the end of the week it is evident the whole work will be completed as far as the first stage is concerned. The enumerators will then have finished their tabulation of the persons entitled to vote, obtained from a house-to-house canvass.

SYSTEM OF CHOICE

In urban ridings like that of Victoria the enumerators under the new act go forth in pairs. The two so named by the returning officer are of equal rank, and Mr. Courtney explains that their appointments are provided for clearly in the act. One for each of the eighty-three districts into which Victoria is divided is nominated by the sitting member or his representative; the other is named by the defeated candidate who obtained the next highest vote at the poll. Both of these enumerators in each district is paid the same amount per name, and when the names are obtained at any house, a slip is left acquainting the qualified voter that his or her name has been accepted.

Should one of the enumerators disagree with the qualification of the application being sufficient under the act, his disagreement is registered on the notice, and the applicant will be offered the opportunity of appearing before the Court of Revision, when the matter will be decided.

It is most important that the persons qualified to vote should have their names placed on the lists by the enumerators, as otherwise they will have to attend sittings later, and have their names recorded if they wish to vote. Trouble is saved, therefore, by the giving of the names to the enumerators in the first instance.

It is therefore urged that should there be any doubt that no one will be at home at any house on the day the enumerator calls, a list of the qualified voters, with their full names, residence and occupation, be left pinned to the door, so that the enumerators may have this and make use of the information therein contained. The enumerators will then leave a statement as to what names have been accepted and placed upon the lists.

NUMBER OF ROSES FIND FAVOR WITH DR. W. P. WALKER

In view of the great interest taken in the various varieties of roses mentioned by Dr. W. P. Walker in his lecture to the Victoria Horticultural Society last Tuesday, the following names are among those cited as being most suitable for Vancouver Island gardens.

Dame Edith Helen, Mrs. A. R. Barracough, Ethel Somerset, Lady Inchiquin, Mrs. Henry Bowles and Una Wallace, all of which are pink roses.

Among the yellow roses mentioned were Mabel Morse, Rev. P. Page-Roberts, Marchal Niel, Lady Forteviot, Mrs. Beatty and Sovereign.

The white and cream shades included Miss Willmott, Mrs. Charles Lamplough, Frau Karl Druschki, Swansdown and Abol.

Although there were many red roses on the market, there were few which Dr. Walker thought really good, and those mentioned as being of special merit were Etienne de Hollande, Hortulanus Budde, Earl Hall, Holt Hewitt, Souvenir de Claudius, Denoyel and Richmond.

Among the climbing and bush roses Dr. Walker preferred Lemon Pillar, Single Mermaid, Cupid, Victoria and Rosa Moyesi, a Chinese species, described by the speaker as "the daintiest rose in my garden."

TAKE DAY OFF

LONDON, June 5.—The delegates to the Imperial Press Conference yesterday took a "day off" to witness the running of the Derby at Epsom Downs. They arrived at the downs in a body at 12 o'clock noon. They were back in London tonight.

WAGE DISPUTE NOW SETTLED

OTTAWA, June 5.—Word was received today by Hon. Peter Hennessey, Minister of Labor, that a wage dispute between employees and employers in the paper industry at the head of the lakes had been settled. About 3,000 men in Fort William, Fort Frances, Kenora and International Falls were affected.

When the dispute broke out some little time ago, the Minister of Labor made a personal investigation of conditions and secured the consent of all parties to have the difficulties smoothed out through arbitration. Mr. M. S. Campbell, chief conciliation officer of the department, then was sent to the head of the lakes and guided negotiations to the present settlement.

Alice: "How many times did you refuse Tom before you accepted him?"

Margaret: "Only once. He seemed so discouraged that I was afraid to try again!"

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK MCCOY

A BETTER TREATMENT FOR APPENDICITIS

Doctors who are unacquainted with the natural methods of treatment, such as fasting and hydrotherapy, are usually of the opinion that an operation is the only treatment of appendicitis. This is not the case, however, as I have personally directed the care of several hundred cases of this dreaded disease without having a single death result, and I know that other doctors are doing the same thing.

If operations were an infallible cure without the danger of post-operative complications, there might be some excuse for rushing these cases to the hospital. But operations are not infallible, and complications frequently ensue, even when the patient recovers. There are no doubt many cases where the patient feels vastly more improved following an operation, but equally good results can usually be obtained without the operation if the right treatment is used.

Almost every day the newspapers record operations upon prominent people and occasionally they report that death occurred. Sometimes one hears that a later operation was necessary to remove the adhesions that resulted from the first. There are many other cases of less prominent people of which no account is given.

It is considered almost sure fatality if the appendix has burst before the operation. On the other hand, I have seen a number of cases where the appendix had apparently burst and a complete recovery occurred without an operation when the correct treatment was used. You will undoubtedly be interested in knowing of the treatment used in these cases, and I will explain it in tomorrow's article, but first let us understand some of the causes leading up to a case of appendicitis.

The appendix is a worm-shaped hollow organ located near the bottom of the ascending colon at a point from which the bowel content must be pushed upward. If there is any packing or slowing up from constipation, or if there is an excessive putrefaction, an inflammation of the colon is likely to ensue. This occurs most frequently in the ascending colon, where it makes a downward curve to form the transverse colon. For this reason, the appendix comes in for its share of inflammation that so frequently occurs in this region. Sometimes the small opening of the appendix may be completely closed by the spread of this inflammation, or it may be blocked by small pieces of hardened fecal matter which have been forced into its entrance. When not inflamed, the appendix usually succeeds in forcing these particles back into the colon.

The symptoms of appendicitis are fairly constant. First, there is usually a sharp or colicky pain through the right side. It may begin with the stomach or be diffused over the abdomen, but towards the end it settles down somewhere near the right iliac fossa. The next symptom is that the patient is nauseated and may begin to vomit. Constipation ensues, the muscles of the lower right side are rigid, and the patient usually raises the right leg to ease the pressure. The patient has a fever, usually moderate at first. Upon pressure there is a tendency and soreness in the side, and the blood shows an increase in the number of white corpuscles. Most of the patients have an attack of the acute catarrhal type, which may be mild and often heals spontaneously within a week or two. After several of these attacks there is danger that future attacks will be accompanied by the formation of pus and a real abscess may form in the appendix, which if not treated correctly sometimes results in a perforation into the abdominal cavity and finally the development of peritonitis.

ADJUDICATING ON LOST WILL

VANCOUVER, June 5.—Adjudicating on a lost will, Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald in Supreme Court held that it had been established to the satisfaction of the court, and gave judgment for plaintiff.

It was an action in which Rev. John Croft Milton, sought to prove in solemn form the lost will of his wife, Angela M. Milton, who died January 19. He stated that his wife's will with his own had been left in a box in the garage adjoining his home. Burglars raided the garage, he declared, and the loss of the will and other securities was not discovered until after his wife's death. The will appointed the husband sole beneficiary of a $3,000 estate; it was declared.

Built for Many Thousands of Miles

THE new Ford has been designed and built to give you many thousands of miles of faithful, economical service. Beneath its flashing beauty of line and color—in those vital mechanical parts which you may never see—is a high quality of material and accuracy in manufacturing.

The reliability and capable performance of the car, in all weather and under all conditions, make it a particularly good choice for constant use. It stands up under the added strain of bad roads and hard daily service in a way that has always been characteristic of the Ford car. The experience of the passing months and years will increase your satisfaction in its performance and confirm your first impression that it is a value far above the price.

"THE CANADIAN CAR"

Unusual Riding Comfort

ONE OF THE fine things about driving the new Ford is the way it takes you over the miles without strain or fatigue. No matter how long the trip, or rough or devious the highway, you know it will bring you safely, quickly, comfortably to the journey's end. The restfully tilted seats are generously wide and deeply cushioned. The backs are carefully designed to conform to the curves of the body.

Furthermore, every Ford car is equipped with four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers and special transverse springs. Even bad stretches may be taken at a reasonably fast pace without hard jolts or bumps or exaggerated bouncing. The steel-spoke wheels, three-point chassis suspension, torque-tube drive, and low unsprung weight also contribute to the easy-riding comfort of the Ford car.
